1.0 Introduction

XMEME was issued on May 10th, 2023, by CAG (@cryptoassetsguy) and officially launched on November 2nd, 2023. Since then, it has grown into a truly community-driven memecoin, guided by collaboration, creativity, and good vibes. The project is now stewarded by Stone, a respected XRPL figure known for promoting grassroots engagement and supporting the wider ecosystem.

Built on the XRPL (XRP Ledger), XMEME embraces the original memecoin ethos—humor, inclusivity, and the power of community. It cuts through the noise of charts and technical jargon to deliver a fun, accessible experience that anyone can enjoy.

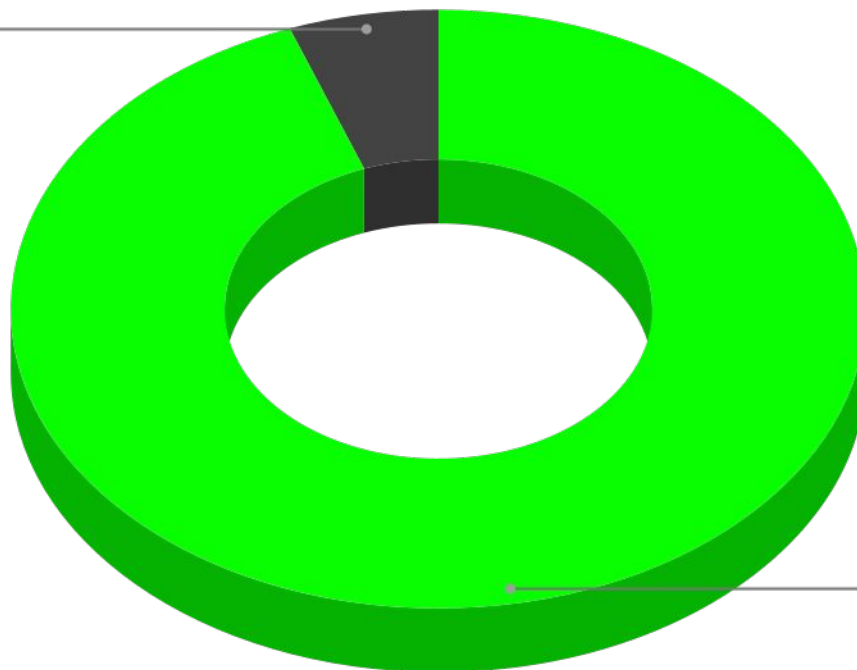

At its core, XMEME is about bringing people together. Whether it's through shared jokes, community initiatives, or collaborations with other projects, the token thrives on real connection and collective momentum.

This whitepaper explores how XMEME continues to grow as a movement—fuelled by creativity, supported by its holders, and always focused on keeping crypto light-hearted, engaging, and for everyone.

2.0 Tokenomics

Project

5.7%

Circulating

94.3%

2.1 Circulating Supply: 94.3%

XMEME takes transparency to a new level, with 94.3% of the total supply already in circulation. This approach ensures a fair and decentralised distribution, fostering a healthy market dynamic.

2.2 Project: 5.7%

The 3% allocation of XMEME tokens is reserved for rewards, specifically aimed at incentivising existing holders and attracting new ones. This allocation is strategically designed to enhance community engagement, encourage participation in farming activities, improve liquidity, and support sustainable growth within the token..

2.3 Token Burning: A Bold Move

XMEME was launched with an initial supply of 100 billion tokens at presale, reflecting strong confidence in the project. After successfully selling just over 28.5 billion XMEME, a strategic decision was made to burn 66% of the remaining supply—reinforcing our commitment to scarcity and increasing value for holders. Thanks to these community-driven burn initiatives, the total supply has now been reduced to just 33.1%.

With such a significant portion already burned, there are no current plans for further project-led burns. Any future burn activity will be entirely community-driven, in keeping with our decentralized and collaborative approach.

2.4 Liquidity Pool Commitment

To support long-term liquidity, all XRP received through collaborations or community initiatives will be matched 1:1 with XMEME tokens from the Dev Wallet and deposited directly into the liquidity pool. This reinforces our commitment to transparent, community-driven value creation.

3.0 Unique Features

Real-World Utility:

XMΣMΣ is now accepted as a discount token for consulting services offered by project leadership. This adds tangible utility to the token, showcasing its expanding role beyond the memecoin label.

Community:

This is everything to XMEME. More than a community, we are a family. At XMEME, we all support each other. It's all about proving a memecoin can succeed by having a healthy, positive, and united community. That's our special utility. We are the most loyal crypto community on the XRPL. XMEME is the memecoin the XRP community has always deserved.

Transparency and Honesty:

At XMEME, we make sure to be 100% honest and transparent. This movement was created because we were tired of bad actors in this space. We don't over complicate matters, and there are no false promises. Our statements aren't just empty words; they represent exactly what we're going to do. With Integrity and Unity we all succeed.

Collaboration:

A notable example of this collaborative spirit is our partnership with the MERCH token, through which 17% of all merchandise sales are automatically directed to the XMEME liquidity pool. This ongoing collaboration showcases how community synergy directly benefits the ecosystem.

Exchange Focus:

XMEME currently trades solely via DEXs in a decision that encourages pure P2P (person-to-person) trading with real price discovery from supply and demand. While this decision has been made to ensure fairness and opportunity for the early stages of the token, we are always open to opportunities for future listings via either DEX or CEX should this be beneficial to XMEME. It's all about the community having the power and full control.

4.0 Community Engagement

Social Media:

XMEME has an active presence on platforms like Twitter (X), Telegram, and YouTube to facilitate discussions and updates. Many of the largest XRPL influencers on Twitter are holders and actively work to spread the name of XMEME to the masses.

Contests and Giveaways:

We hold periodic events and giveaways to reward the community and attract new members on social media.
